She loved all animals but she decidedly had a preference. She had always been a dog person. Most of her life she'd dreamt of having the perfect family - one that would comprise of a number of gorgeous breeds of dogs. She didn't trust cats for they were unpredictable and at the least, undecipherable. But when she took one in, her life changed forever. The joy of parenting a cat was great and unlike anything she was prepared for. It was fun, but with immense learning and discovery every step of the way. Their story together is flavoured with elements of personal victories and losses. It explores both the joyous aspects of pet parenting as it does the pain that comes along with it. The characters in this book are real and the stories are true.
